Introduction

This document is a collection of the public research published using Refinitiv's MarketPsych Indices dataset. A brochure on the data is available here. This document lists academic papers, textbook chapters and books, and dissertations written on the data as identified up to March 5th, 2021. These documents are available online (at the source journals or SSRN) or in MarketPsych's personal collection. MarketPsych's website research repository organizes these papers by asset and topic, and it includes abstracts and summaries. Access to the repo is available with inquiry to sales@marketpsychdata.com.
